CAR STRIKE COMPLETELY TIES
UP CITY LINES AND BRANCHESLast Car Placed in Charle-
roi Barn at 1 O'clock
This Morning

OUTCOME IS PROBLEMATIC

Not Known Whether or Not Company
Will Attempt to Operate Cars—
Both Company and Men Lose Heavy-ly By the Strike.Completely tying up the Charleroi and Washington branches and all Pittsburg lines, a strike of street railway employees of the Pittsburg Railways went into effect at midnight.
Thirty-one hundred workers are affected.The strike came at the conclusion of conferences lasting practically all of Sunday in which an effort was made to reach an adjustment. The final conference was adjourned at 11:15
Sunday night and immediate notifications went out to street car motor-men and conductors. Most of the employees quit at 12 o'clock sharp, but those out on runs were told to complete them. The final car on the Charleroi line reached the barn at 1 o'clock and was put away until the strike is over or until an effort is made to operate.A difference of about four cents
hour existed between the company and men at the conclusion of their final conference on the wage scale.
However, there were other points no agreed upon. Meetings were held in the office of Mayor Joseph G. Armstrong of Pittsburg. A committee of street car men, headed by J. J. Thorpe, first international vice president and composed of men from each division conferred with President J. D. Caillet and General Manager P. N. Jones.Of the 3,100 street car employees affected by the strike order 2,876 are employed on lines within Pittsburg.
The others operate on suburban routes. Four interurban lines are affected within the city limits including the Butler short line; Butler, Harmony & New Castle line; Charleroi line and the route to Washington, Pa. Small routes running in and around McKeesport, Washington and Beaver are also tied up by the other and the Ohio Scenic route, running from Steubenville, O., to Vanport, Pa., will be seriously crippled.Things seem dead at the Charleroi barn where final cars were placed shortly after midnight.Close to 100 street car men live in Charleroi and immediate vicinity who are employed on the Pittsburg lines
and they are all out.Trains were crowded this morning going both ways, and jitney buses became exceedingly popular. They were packed to the limit. From Monongahela to Donora and from Monongahela to Finleyville automobiles and rigs were chartered and placed into use. Because of the operation here
of the West Side Electric Street Railways company, connecting with nearby points and because of the regular jitney bus operation crowds were well handled.What the week will bring forth is a question. So far the strike is a novelty.
question. So far the strike is a novelty.
pany will attempt to operate cars. If an attempt to run them is made, operations first will center in Pittsburg
and then branch out to the Charleroi, Washington and other lines. In Pittsburg this morning close to 300,000

ACCIDENTS NARROWLY AVERTED

ON THE SPEEDS THROUSFARE

Pedestrians and Autoists Barely Escape Coming Together in Numerous Instances.The Speeds' highway was a popular place for autoists and pedestrians
on Sunday and both were out in force.
The result was that accidents were narrowly averted in a number of cases. The highway is just about wide enough for two automobiles to pas
and there is nothing like a sidewalk.
Those walking were compelled to jump aside. Probably the nearest to a serious accident was Charles Hott of McKean avenue, who with several others
was walking along McKean avenue near First street. Along came a speeding automobile. Hott jumped to the side of the way and the machine
grazed his clothing.TALBOT'S PAL

letter, became acquainted while they were prisoners in the Colorado penitentiary. Both escaped. Talbot was recaptured and finished serving his sentence. Dillon never had been found by the western officers until his name was mentioned in connection with the Houston robbery. Two photographs of Dillon, who had used the names of McDonald and Dinwoodie were enclosed.

County in Work of Building—Commissioners Will Visit Harrisburg.Announcement is being made by County Commissioners Charles H.
Nutt and George P. Hoover in Fay-

sioners to project an improved main highway through Fayette county,
touching Uniontown, Connellsville, Point Marion, Smithfield and Fair-chance and running from the West Virginia border at Ft. Marion to the Westmoreland county line. It is proposed to have the highway built jointly by the county and the State Highway Department and the commissioners are arranging to go to Harrisburg this week to consult with Acting Highway Commissioner Joseph
W. Hunter regarding the proposed main road through Fayette county.
The commissioners will be accompanied to the capital with their consulting engineer, John T. Gephardt, Jr., former construction engineer for the Highway Department.According to the plans outlined by the commissioners the county will build about 11 1-2 miles of road and the State Highway Department will be asked to build 10 1-2 miles of highway. The project is one of the most formidable ever attempted by any board of commissioners in Fayette county. The new road is to be built in addition to the new highways for which contracts have been awarded, although some of these roads are included in the trans-county route.In addition to the main road from Point Marion to the Westmoreland county line a spur is to be constructed so that Fayette City, Belle Ver-son and Perryopolis will be connected with the main route.COST OF LIVING IS REDUCED;

Many Laborers Secured

PROGRESS WILL BE RAPID

Work was resumed on the reconstruction of the inner lock at Lock
No. 4 this morning, when the first shift went to work at about 7 o'clock.
This ended a suspension which was declared on January 15 and which was necessitated by reason of bad weather.Contrary to expectations laborers have not been hard to secure. The first shift numbered about 150 men,
the usual number and enough are available to continue at the usual rate of progress. U. Boyd Brumbaugh is the superintendent on the work with Charles E. Ashcraft the U. S. Engineer in charge.Though work was started today it will take until about May 15 to get affairs in ship shape. Then it is expected progress will be rapid.USES FINGER PRINT SYSTEM was able this morning to recover a diamond ring worth $125 belonging to a Charleroi woman whose name is not given out. When the complaint reached Chief Albright that the ring

prints from the box where the ring had been kept. Then he connected up the theft with a servant girl. Upon confronting her with the finger print

Settlement Brings General Resumption

24,000 MINERS AFFECTED

Large Number Out During Controversy—Practically All Mines Now Operating To Full Capacity Along
The Monongahela Valley.Ending a week's suspension coal miners along the Monongahela valley, together with others in western Pennsylvania districts, employed by the Pittsburg Coal company, returned to work today. About 24,000 were affected. The suspension was due to a controversy over the new run of mine wage scale. Settlement was reached by miners' officials and operators at a meeting in New York city on Friday.With this settlement reached mine trouble is believed to be over. The lead of the Pittsburg Coal company is being followed by most of the other operating concerns in the Pittsburg
district, since the Pittsburg Coal controls the largest number of mines.
Possibly the one exception to the rule in the Monongahela valley is that of the Vesta Coal company, a Jones & Laughlin concern, which has made effective at its large mines at California, Fredericktown and West Brownsville, a scale suitable to its own conditions.So far as can be learned all the Pittsburg Coal mines in the Monongahela
are operating to full capacity today.
On the whole probably less time was lost in the coal fields this year than ever before at the time of the inauguration of a new wage scale.CHARLEY CHAPLIN TO BE STARRING AT THE MAJESTIC IN "CARMEN"Starring in a new edition of "Carmen," the famous opera the popular Charley Chaplin, who is probably the most noted comedian of the screen will be featured at the Majestic theatre on Wednesday of this week. This is one of the latest releases. Chaplin is the man who recently figured in a deal whereby he is to receive $750,- 000 for his moving picture work this year. His funny antics in all sorts of roles has made his name the by-word in thousands of homes. In "Carmen" he will attempt something new, but it is maintained a characterization in which he is just as much at home as he has been in previous big-time productions.

PROPERTY RIGHTS AND COLOR.

The attempt of St. Louis and Louisville, Ky., to segregate their negro population have run up against a legal snag. The St. Louis ordinance, adopted a few weeks ago in a popular referendum, provided that no white man or negro may occupy property in a city block where 75 per cent or more of the residents are of the other race. A temporary injunction against the enforcement of the measure has been granted. Judge Dryer in granting the injunction, explained as follows:

"The question of police power has been drawn by the attorney, and I have drawn, but I believe that these ordinances exceed the police powers. A man has a right to occupy property that he owns under the laws of the United States and the constitution."

The right of any citizen to acquire and own property, regardless of his color, has never been questioned. And if as the court says, and as common sense corroborates, the ownership of real estate implies the right to occupy it, municipalities that want to keep negroes out of white residence districts will have to find some other way to do it. A case based on the Louisville ordinance is now pending in the United States supreme court, and its decision will settle the matter for good.

AIR NITROGEN.

It will be hard to make the average member of congress believe it, and it would be just as hard to make the average business or professional man believe it. But the effort to get congress to make an appropriation to establish government plants to manufacture air nitrogen is the most important matter that has attracted the attention of law makers in half a century. The trouble in this is that the men who understand the vast importance of this project have not the influence, says the New Castle Herald. Most of the men of influence have not the technical education nor the kind of sense to understand it. For a long time it was believed that Germany had a monopoly of manufacturing air nitrogen and at first she had. But it now transpires that every detail of the German methods is understood by our own scientists. Cut off from the outside world Germany would have collapsed for want of nitrogen to produce explosives if she had not advanced to the point of not caring for the imported nitrates.

There is water power enough going to waste in this state alone to manufacture nitrogen from the air to double the producing capacity of the farms of the entire territory east of the Mississippi river. The senate has passed the item for establishing a nitrogen plant, but the matter is still to go to the house.

Our constitution authorizes congress to pass laws to "provide for the common defense and promote the general welfare."

Private interests, seeking control of our water powers for themselves and hoping to hold their grasp on the fertilizer industry of the country, will make a bitter fight to defeat it.

COUNTY AGENTS AND SCHOOLS

A West Virginia news bulletin tells of the fact that the county agents are finding much to do in co-operation with the rural schools, now that the outdoor work of instruction and demonstration is less. This, in our opinion is the most important work the agents can do, says Farm and Fireside.

It is a pity that every county agent is not also equipped with some training as a school teacher. The two lines of work should approach closer and closer. The attempts made by thousands of teachers to teach textbook "agriculture" are pitiful.

Cannot the county agents do something systematically to show these teachers that agriculture cannot be made vital and real as a book study, but must be taught with reference to the daily problems of life? The county agent is a teacher of agriculture. He must teach it in the field and on the farms. To try to teach it from books alone would be absurd. Well, it is just as absurd for the rural teacher to try to do it.

The greatest problem for the county-agent movement is to correlate itself systematically with rural education—Farm and Fireside.

pupils over the fraternity question, one member of the school board is quoted as having laughed about the matter, remarking that in other days young fellows used to settle their differences with their fists and nobody thought anything about it. Yet this sort of thing is a violation of the law of the state, says the Altoona Tribune. It is not a very serious offense merely assault and battery, but a good citizen, especially no citizen charged with oversight of the training of the rising generation, should justify it. American young folks should be trained to orderly conduct and strict obedience to law. Any other policy is surely a very dangerous policy.

The action on the part of the state and local health authorities toward the enforcement of the laws preventing spitting on sidewalks is timely. The laws ought to be rightly enforced. Within a day or two returning from lunch a young woman crossing Fifth street was greeted with a shower from the mouth of a corner bystander. The filthy stuff struck her on the hand. This is the sort of thing the law aims to stop, as well as the spitting habits that produce disease. State Health Commissioner Samuel C. Dixon in his letter to the local health authorities says: "There is probably no single law of this commonwealth that if properly enforced would have such far-reaching effects in promoting civic decency. What has your Board done up to the present in enforcing this law? How much improvement have you noted as the result of the enforcement of this law?" Secretary Davis of the Board of Health is taking up the matter of rigid enforcement with the Burgess and Health Board and police authorities can rest secure they will have the backing of every clean-minded citizen of the borough in their effort to purify the town.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"John," said the thoughtful woman, "get your overshoes. It's wet and snowy."

"I haven't any overshoes."

"Take an umbrella, anyhow."

"I haven't any umbrella."

"At least, you'll wear an overcoat?"

"Left it downtown."

"Well, go ahead and see what happens," she concluded in a tone of patient resignation. "I have always been kind of anxious to see how these unpreparedness ideas of yours would work out."

A colored man entered the general store of a small Ohio town and complained to the storekeeper that a ham he had purchased there a few days before had proved not to be good.

"The ham is all right, Joe," insisted the storekeeper.

"No, it ain't boss," insisted the other. "Dat ham's sure bad."

"How can that be," continued the storekeeper, "when it was cured only last week?"

Joe reflected solemnly a moment and then suggested:

"Maybe it's done had a relapse."

CHARLEROI BABES WIN THEIR FIRST CONTEST

Independent Team Which Will Represent Charleroi in Baseball This Season Defeats Fredericktown—Open Season Here May 20.

Met and enthused by a brass band and a big crowd the Charleroi Baseball team—the nine that this summer will represent Charleroi in the independent circles—defeated at Fredericktown the Fredericktown team by the score of 4 to 3 Saturday afternoon. The contest was exciting and close all the way through. A crowd of probably 1,500 viewed the battle.

Included in the Fredericktown lineup were such well known players as Queen, Gillie and Long. The Babes were all local men.

In the fourth inning Charleroi got to Pitcher Queen for three hits and tallied two runs. In the eighth in other run was scored, with a base on balls and a sacrifice and in the ninth two hits, a sacrifice and a lifer brought the fourth run. The game really was won on a cleverly worked squeeze play.

Donahue pitched well for Charleroi and his teamsters gave him good support. Runs were scored in second, fifth and seventh innings.

The Babes open the home season on Saturday, May 20, with the Shalyside Westinghouse club, one of the strongest semi-pro teams in the Pittsburgh district. Score:

COLLEGE GIRL FAMED PERFORMER IN CIRCUS

In all the circus world there is no bareback rider better known than Miss Dallis Julian. She is not only the highest paid circus rider in the world but she is the only woman who has successfully performed a somersault on the broad, rosined haunch of a galloping horse. Single forward and backward somersaults are Miss Julian's speciality and she does these just to "limber up," as she expresses it.

Miss Julian is the principal bareback rider with the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus which comes to Charleroi Saturday, May 13 for performance at 2 and 8 p. m. and a parade at 10 o'clock.

When the big show is over and Dallis Julian emerges from her private dressing tent one would pick her for a debutante or society girl. She is slim of build and is just past her twentieth year, and is unmarried. Her brother, Fred Julian travels with the show and is a member of the executive staff.

Miss Julian is a graduate of Bryn Mawr College. In school she was remarkably fond of athletics. One summer her father, who is a banker at Fall River, Mass., spent a week with the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, along with him being his daughter Dallis. The daughter had always yearned for life under the canvas and the father believed that a week of roughing it would remove all traces for a desire to follow the circus. The week with the show saw the little college girl blossom into a full-fledged circus star.

Under the guidance of Dad Dockrill the famous circus equestrian director, Miss Julian developed into a remarkable rider. She has duplicated every feat performed by a male rider and has left her sister riders far in the background.

Wearing carnations more than 50 Odd Fellows attended church services Sunday evening at St. Mary's Episcopal church. They met at Odd Fellows' hall and led by Clarence Welch as marshal marched in a body to the church. Rev. John Lyons preached an appropriate sermon.

MATCHMAKER

By ANNE RICHMOND.

It was a warm day in April and old Botts was sitting just in front of his shop door when along came a dainty figure of a girl with a large square package.

"I have some books to sell," she said.

The fact that she was shabby and that the dark blue suit she wore was almost as faded as his own served as a tie of sympathy.

So it was that he bought the books without looking at them more than superficially, and paid her what with him was a maximum price—25 cents a volume.

She was Miss Pansy Mead and her address was the fifth floor back in a lodging house in a little side street near by.

Then, when Pansy had gone, he looked at the books for which he had paid $3.75—a sum which the timid Pansy had seized with avidity. The second-hand man knew that look of eagerness, for often the wares he bought were sold for the price of a meal or a night's shelter.

The books seemed to be fairly new. For this reason he determined to put them in one of the shelves in place of some of the less attractive volumes that were then occupying the place of honor.

But when he looked closer at the books he was more than amazed. Some of the volumes in the set were missing.

He waited for a few days, thinking that perhaps the original owner would return with the missing volumes, but he waited in vain. Then, one day, he climbed up to the little bare room at the address she had given. He found the girl surrounded by piles of half-sewn white garments.

He explained to her what he supposed had been her mistake and the girl seemed not in the least surprised.

"I am sorry," she said, "and I would like to give you back the money you gave me, but I am very poor. Perhaps in a few weeks I shall have more sewing to do and then I will bring it around. The money I raised on the books made it possible for me to make the first payment on a sewing machine. Then I was able to get this work to do. But they pay so poorly; until I become expert it means hardly enough to pay the rent and for my simple meals. The worst of it is that I do not possess the missing volumes. They were given to me this way and I had to sell them."

What was Old Botts to do?

It was pleasant sitting out of doors, and the second-hand man was musing over the fumes of his pipe. Then a brisk, well-dressed man approached. "I've got some books for sale. I'll let you have them for a song. It's more to have them out of the way than anything else that I am bringing them to you. There are fifteen volumes. I'll let you have them for ten cents apiece. I know that's cheap, but, to tell you the truth, they won't be of much use to you. They are missing volumes. Here are the first and third volumes of the 'Comte de Bragelonne,'" he continued.

The young man opened the suitcase and took out the handsomely bound books. Old Botts stared and interrupted the stranger.

"And there's the second volume of 'Monte Cristo,'" he said, without looking at the books. "And the odd-numbered volumes of Grote's 'History of Greece' and—"

"How did you know?" asked the younger man, amazement written all over his face.

The old man led the way inside his little shop and pointed to the collection of books he had placed there two months ago.

So the matchmaking was begun. How the second-hand man knew that there was a little romance at issue is hard to tell. For his life, spent among old furniture and dilapidated kitchen wares and dusty old books, would hardly have given him any intuition in affairs of that sort.

He told the young man of the pretty little girl who had brought the heavy bundle to him and of his later visit to her humble quarters.

"She said she would come around to pay me for the books which I told her would be of no use to me and I know she will keep her word. But now she need not. I will buy your batch of twenty-five cents apiece. They are all in good condition."

"Not if I know it—you won't buy them," said the young man. "I'll pay you seventy-five cents for each of your volumes if you say so. Where did you say the girl was staying?"

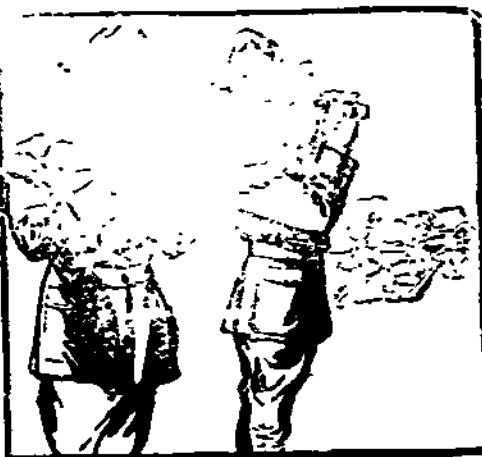

In a minute more, the young man was off, and it was not till two or three hours later that he returned.

"I thought I would explain how it happened," he said on his return. "You see, Miss Mead and I were engaged, and it was all my fault that we were separated. I went my way and she went hers. I have been lucky and she has had no end of misfortune. We had given the books to each other as presents. It was a little whim of ours to give alternate volumes so that when we had a little home of our own they would be complete. And she had to sell her books to pay for that sewing machine and I decided to sell mine just because I couldn't bear the sight of them any more."

ANAEMIC PEOPLE

Need More Iron in the Blood.

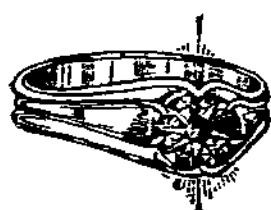

If you are anaemic, you need more iron in your blood and the tell-tale symptoms are a pale face—colorless lips, ashen finger nails, poor circulation and short breath, and more serious diseases are easily contracted when in this condition.

Mr. W. H. Hodges of Kansas City, Mo., says:—"I suffered from the effects of bad blood, was run-down, dizzy, had headaches and did not feel like working. I had tried Beef Iron and Wine without any help. After taking Vinol four days I noticed improvement and its continued use built up my blood and my bad feelings disappeared like magic."

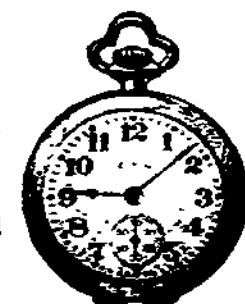

The bad effects of poor, devitalized blood cannot be overestimated, and it is the peptonate of iron and the true cod liver extracts contained in Vinol, together with beef peptone, that enriches the blood, improves the circulation and in this natural manner builds up health and strength. Try it on our guarantee. Pipers Drug Store.

MAY-DAY CHEER

SUFFRAGISTS HAVE MANY NOVEL PLANS FOR MAY-DAY FETE

Yellow Daffodils, Pansy Plants and Packages of Flower Seeds to be Scattered Broadcast

OTHER WOMEN AID PROJECT

Awaiting the May that they may give nosegays to their neighbors and potted plants to little princes and princesses of the cities, suffragists of the state are completing their arrangements for a general May-Day celebration to take the form of a revival of gathering and giving away flowers as was the custom long ago, in England.

From suffragists of Down East, Pennsylvania, Western Pennsylvania, the northern, central and southern tiers of counties, reports of plans to be followed May 1, and requests for suggestions have been pouring daily into state suffrage headquarters at Harrisburg.

At present palpitant with the joy they expect to spread, the suffragists of a many sections have been joined by women not of their organizations, who desire to brighten the lives of little citizens, the boys and girls of towns and cities, the pleasant whimsy of the suffragists having had a broad appeal.

In the cities, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, the flowers will be distributed in the residence sections near the downtown districts where the kiddies seldom see flowers except in the flower shop windows. The Pittsburgh suffragists will distribute 3,000 pansy plants, "potted" in little baskets with long handles. The latter will enable the suffragists and the women working with them to hang the little tokens on door knobs and hasten on.

In Lancaster, even a more lasting method of joy-giving has been adopted. This is the distribution package of yellow flower seeds, yellow being the suffrage color, to 500 little holders of garden plots. These will be planted at their proper seasons and continue the recollection of suffragists' good will over the entire summer.

In Mt. Carmel, May-day will have a yellow glow, the suffragists thereof planning to give each person attending the Chautauqua a yellow daffodil. The next day, too, suffragists will distribute yellow floral tokens.

Milton suffragists have arranged to distribute their flowers in baskets which the tots will help to make and

"GOLDEN FLIER" FLYING

Suffrage Auto on 15,000-Mile Trip--Philadelphia Women to Aid

The "Golden Flier" is flying! The "Golden Flier" is the bright yellow automobile over the radiator of which Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, national suffrage president, broke a christening bottle of gasoline before it chugged away recently upon the first lap of its scheduled 15,000-mile journey.

The object of the speedy tour is to call our volunteers for the big demonstrations which the national suffrage organization is planning for the Republican and Democratic conventions at Chicago and St. Louis, June 7 and 14, when the suffragists will ask the adding of a suffrage plank to the platforms adopted.

"A delegate for every mile," is the aim of the motorists.

Suffragists of Philadelphia, who, with others of the state, will attend the suffrage demonstrations at the political conventions, were first to open their traveling expense fund, by issuing an appeal to women to forego costly Easter bonnets and contribute the money saved toward taking delegates westward.

NEXT STATE CONVENTION TO BE IN WILLIAMSPORT

The next state convention of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association will be held in November, in Williamsport. This date was selected, recently, at the spring conference of suffragists held in the same city. Although the chief business will be action upon the party plan to merge all existing state associations into one, the discussion of methods to be adopted to secure the passage of a woman suffrage amendment bill before the next session of the Legislature will be of more general interest.

Three hundred delegates will attend the convention. These include many of the most widely known women of the state.

The salaries of all English Red Cross nurses now going to the front have been reduced from two guineas a week to one. In France the nurses have received a six months' notice of a similar reduction in their pay. The soldier's pay has not been reduced.

They will be distributed by the children under the direction of their teachers.

Many other sections of the state have reported equally novel plans for the May-Day festival.

Suffragists State Stand and Ask All

Legislative Candidates to Do Same.

Urging that they take a stand which they must record sooner or later if elected to the Legislature, suffragists of the state are preparing to ask every candidate who filed papers with the Secretary of the Commonwealth, to announce his opinion relative to woman suffrage and the submitting to the voters of another amendment to the Constitution granting women the right to vote.

The suffragists, from their headquarters in Harrisburg and through their president, Mrs. George B. Orady, announce their own stand which is that every voter has the right to know what candidates believe and what they intend to do concerning woman suffrage.

"Woman suffrage," Mrs. Orady says, "is now one of the vital questions in which the men of Pennsylvania are interested and they have a right to know before voting for any candidate what that candidate will do relative to suffrage, if elected to the Legislature which will be asked to pass upon another amendment."

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Washington Park, Ill. -- "I am the mother of four children and have suffered with female trouble, backache, nervous spells and the blues. My children's loud talking and romping would make me so nervous I could just tear everything to pieces and I would ache all over and feel so sick that I would not want anyone to talk to me at times. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills restored me to health and I want to thank you for the good they have done me. I have had quite a bit of trouble and worry but it does not affect my youthful looks. My friends say 'Why do you look so young and well?' I owe it all to the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies."

—Mrs. Helen Stoppel, Moore Avenue, Washington Park, Illinois.

We wish every woman who suffers from female troubles, nervousness, backache or the blues could see the letters written by women made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

PITTSBURG STEEL CO. BUILDING PLAYGROUND

Touched by the recent fatal and near fatal accidents to children from street cars and wagons while either playing in the street or crossing in the vicinity of the plant of the Pittsburgh Steel company General Superintendent C. J. Mogan has ordered the vacant plots of Wireton converted into modern playgrounds. Workmen under the direction of Foreman Hugh Price have been busy for days with this work.

Perhaps an acre or more of the company's property will be graded and enclosed with fence by the improvement, after which granulated white slag will cover the surface. Then slides, swings, see-saws, running ladders, merry-go-rounds, sand boxes, revolving barrels and other juvenile paraphernalia will be installed. No reasonable expense will be spared for the pastime and safety of their children in the neighborhood of the mill.

One of the plots is at Lewis and Schoonmaker avenues, while another large one is nearer the bridge. As far as possible proper regulations will be enforced by the management.

Keep the little ones healthy and happy. Their tender sensitive bodies require a gentle, healing, harmless remedy in the Spring. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea is a safe tonic remedy, thoro but not injurious. 35c Hennings Drug Store.
